

International Youth Leader Education

August 8th 2021 – July 3rd 2022

Certificate

The International Sport and Culture Association hereby confirms that

Tomáš Vacek

has attended the International Youth Leader Education programme 2021/2022

The International Youth Leader Education is a non-formal education programme with the aim of contributing to the educational process of young people to be youth leaders in voluntary associations.

The International Youth Leader Education is a nine-month course with focus on democracy, leadership in voluntary associations, and voluntary work as a tool of social integration, community-based activities and intercultural understanding.

The International Youth Leader Education uses sport, youth and cultural activities for developing the personal skills of the youth leaders and educates them how to use sport, youth and cultural activities as a tool of developing social work locally, regionally and nationally.

Mogens Kirkeby

President

International Sport and Culture Association

The objectives of the International Sport and Culture Association are as follows:

- to promote an understanding between people across borders through sports and cultural activities
- to stress the view of sport as a bearer of local, regional or national cultural identity and thereby placing it in the centre of international exchanges of ideas, opinions and cultural expressions
- to encourage the broadest possible participation in sporting and cultural activities among all affiliated members

One of the means towards fulfilling these objectives is organising the International Youth Leader Education.
